Forecast for Wednesday 20 Apr 2022

Weather: Mostly dry. A touch of frost possible on the hill tops at first. Small chance of a few brief mist or fog patches in the valleys initially, otherwise bright or sunny spells. Cloud tending to bubble up during the day with a small chance of a shower breaking out during the afternoon or early evening, but some fairly strong sunlight still breaking through at times. Cloud becoming more broken again during the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 90%.

Low Cloud and visibility: Poor visibility at first in any valley mist or fog patches, otherwise generally very good to excellent, with a small chance that visibilities drop to moderate or good should an afternoon shower develop.

Meteorologist's View

Although feeling reasonably warm in the daytime sunshine in the valleys, it will feel colder towards the hill tops. It's worth taking warm clothing with you if you're planning to head to the summits.

Forecast for Thursday 21 Apr 2022

Weather: A few mist or fog patches in the valleys at first, and local slight frost on the hill tops, otherwise a dry day with bright or sunny spells. Strengthening easterly winds will make it feel cold on the hill tops.

Maximum wind: Easterly 20 to 25 mph with gusts 35 to 40mph.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: Around 60% at first, rising to 80% or higher during the morning and afternoon. 60% or higher during the evening.

Low Cloud and visibility: Locally poor visibility in any valley mist or fog patches at first. Small chance of some patches of low cloud at first, but these should be above the summits.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 5 or 6 Celsius, rising to Plus 14 or 15 Celsius during the day.
At 800m: Plus 3 Celsius, rising to Plus 9 Celsius during the day.
Freezing level: Close to the summits at first and again late evening, otherwise above the summits.

Sunday	Mostly cloudy and windy with fresh to strong easterly winds. Feeling cold. A few light showers are possible but much of the area may well remain dry. Freezing levels mostly above the summits, perhaps close to them first thing in the morning.
